

Ice Cream

The neighborhood was quiet when Sam and Mike went outside. No one else was outside because it was too hot. They started walking down the sidewalk because their skateboards were locked in the garage. The sidewalk was so hot they could feel the heat through their shoes.

Secure Test Materials – Not for Public Use

Images used courtesy of Microsoft clip art, <http://office.microsoft.com>

“Wow! It’s too hot to be outside,” Sam told Mike. “Yeah,” agreed Mike. “Let’s go to Mr. Smith’s Ice Cream Shop. Maybe we will see some friends and buy some ice cream.”

Secure Test Materials – Not for Public Use

Images used courtesy of Microsoft clip art, <http://office.microsoft.com>

It was a short walk to the ice cream shop. By the time they got to the ice cream shop, they were hot and sweaty. The air conditioner made the ice cream shop nice and cool. It felt good to be inside.

Secure Test Materials – Not for Public Use

Images used courtesy of Microsoft clip art, <http://office.microsoft.com>

The ice cream shop was full of people. Sam and Mike waited in line a long time. They both ordered ice cream. They could not pay for the ice cream because they forgot their money.

Secure Test Materials – Not for Public Use

Images used courtesy of Microsoft clip art, <http://office.microsoft.com>

Sam and Mike were sad. They had to go back into the scorching heat with no ice cream to cool them off.

Secure Test Materials – Not for Public Use

Images used courtesy of Microsoft clip art, <http://office.microsoft.com>

Task #07

The skateboards are locked in the garage.

The boys want ice cream.

The boys are hot.

Task #08

The shop is closed.

They forget their money.

They get lost.

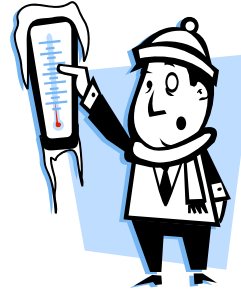

Secure Test Materials – Not for Public Use

Images used courtesy Microsoft clip art, <http://office.microsoft.com>

Task #09

cold

hot

wet

Secure Test Materials – Not for Public Use

Images used courtesy of Microsoft Clip art, <http://office.microsoft.com>